SCOTCHMEN

WHO REMEMBER BOBBIE BURNS

Admirers of the Poet Filled Large Elks Hall Last Night.

BURNS' ADDRESS TO A DAISY

Judge Estee Responds to Toast of the President of United States.

British Commissioner Hoare Speaks to Toast of King and Queen of England—R. Catton Starts High Ball Rolling and N. Kay Lets Song Birds Loose.

The moon came up over the mountains big and round and bright just as scores of Scotchmen and their friends began filing up the stairs leading from the street to the capacious hall of the Elks last night, but she was far, far across the heavens and thinking about hiding her face from the earth when the two hundred and more jolly celebrators of the anniversary of the birth of Burns thought of going to their homes.

Rollers Were Ready.

Four tables, the length of the long hall, soon seated the crowd of lovers of old Scotland who, well provided with the necessities for such an occasion in the way of tempting wines and plenty of liquid refreshment bearing labels complimentary to the land of crags and mountain dew, were ready to listen to eloquent toast, rollicking song and still more rollicking lark-pipes.

On the platform United States Judge M. M. Estee and British Commissioner W. R. Hoare sat, respectively, on the left and right of Toastmaster Chief T. M. Rae.

The Stars and Stripes hung gracefully over the platform while the Union Jack beautified the desk.

High Ball Starts Rolling.

Toastmaster Rae started the high ball rolling by welcoming Scotchmen and their friends to the celebration of Scotland's Poet Burns' birthday anniversary, introducing the first speaker of the evening, R. Catton.

Loud applause greeted Mr. Catton who spoke, in part, as follows:

Catton on Burns.

"We have met to render thanks for one of God's greatest gifts to Scotland, the poet, Bobbie Burns."

"God's gift to England was the immortal Bard of Avon, the poet, Shakespeare."

"Burns' songs and poems in their purity and simplicity stir the poetic nature in us all. He wrote of simple things as well of greater things."

Mr. Catton then quoted some charming lines from Burns' address to a daisy, drawing the attention of the Scotchmen and others poetic present to the beauty of the poetic feeling expressed on a subject so simple.

He referred to Burns' poems on love, saying that we are all poets while we are courting. "I hope we remain poets after we are married," added the speaker. He went on to portray the gentle humor of the poet's works.

"For Scotland Burns had a mighty love," said the speaker, "desiring always to do something for his country but always fearing, it seems, that he could not do much. He seems to have formed a better opinion of himself later, however, for he told his wife once that he would be more thought of a hundred years after his death than he was then."

Songbirds Let Loose.

"There was a lad born in Kyle," was then sung by N. Kay, to the delight of all. Mr. Kay was encouraged and sang "A Life on the Rolling Sea" with great gusto.

G. F. Davies followed with a piano selection, singing to his own accompaniment a jolly song of modern times touching on the vastness of the sea. Glasses clinked and all was merriment as the minutes sped swiftly by.

President of the United States.

When the toastmaster introduced Judge Estee those present arose to their feet with filled glasses, for the Judge was about to speak on "The President of the United States." The glasses drained and the assemblage again seated. Judge Estee made a few remarks, in brief, as follows:

"I don't know whether you want me to speak of the great office of President of the United States or of the man who now fills that position. It is a great thing to be a ruler, especially in a country where the people make their ruler."

"The ruler of England is born its ruler, but for more than a century and a half there has not been an English ruler who was not worthy of being England's ruler. And in America it is a fact that, from Washington up to the present time, there has not been a President who was not worthy of being President."

"The people are the best judges and what they say is right is generally right. This is most forcibly shown in America."

Scotland's Religious Feeling.

In speaking of Scotland Judge Estee spoke of the deep in-born religious feeling of the sons and daughters of Scotland.

"Englishmen, Scotchmen and Irishmen make good American citizens, but they never forget their native country and they never forget the great poets of their native country."

The Judge spoke of going to Hilo next week, saying that he understood that most of the English speaking people of Hilo were Scotchmen.

The Judge spoke of Roosevelt's coming to the Presidency saying that Roosevelt was a young man but a man worthy to fill the position, with a few happy allusions to Scottish wit, thrift and conscientiousness. The Judge took his seat amid great applause.

Fondness for Mountain Dew.

The Dillingham Quartet followed the remarks of Judge Estee, after which Stanley Beardmore mounted the platform and recited a poem entitled "McBride's System." The poem touched pathetically on the fondness of the Scots for the dew of the mountains.

Another song came after the recitation. Jas. G. Brown sang. Again the glasses rattled and applause filled the hall.

The eloquent T. McCants Stewart started in on his address on "Burns" with a poem, one of the works of Scotland's bard, reciting the lines, sweetly and with careful expression.

He called Burns a high priest of nature, saying that he had given voice to the poetry of the common things of life, the good, wholesome, best things of life.

Scottish Brew Circulated.

"Flora MacDonald's Lament," a delightful song, was rendered very prettily and fetchingly by D. Clark, whose voice is most pleasantly attractive.

Those who gave Scottish quotations and who recited Scottish poems, faithfully represented the tongue of the land of Burns. The Scottish brew, which circulated generously, materially assisted those who were not natives of Scotland to venture on the use of Scottish words.

Not satisfied with Clark's first song, more was forthcoming as good as the first.

When the Highland Fling was announced the utmost enthusiasm was manifested, hand-clapping, floor-pounding, table-banging, glass-clinking and loud calling being freely indulged in.

Piper Macdonald's Fling.

Piper R. Macdonald Murray, in Highland costume, was by all odds the chief attraction of the evening. The platform was vacated by Judge Estee and Commissioner Hoare, and after the desk had been put in a corner, the piano was manipulated and Murray executed the national dance of Scotland in a manner which brought down the house. He had to do the deed twice. So nimble of foot was Murray that his bold, bare knees twinkled merrily in and out of his kilts at a rate which spoke well for their owner's dancing ability.

England's King and Queen.

"Their Majesties the King and Queen of Great Britain" was a toast that brought every man in the house to his feet. Glasses were raised high, and with one foot on their chairs, every Scotchman, Englishman, Irishman and everybody else, too, drank heartily and joined in three loud-lunged cheers.

British Commissioner Hoare responded to the toast in fitting and appropriate terms, limiting his words to a few brief remarks which called forth the utmost enthusiasm.

His Britannic Majesty's Consul spoke in laudatory language of the late Queen of England, Victoria the Good, and also dwelt on the merits of King Edward and Queen Alexandra.

Tommy Atkins.

William Thompson rendered "Tommy Atkins" in a way that stirred the spirit of every man, not considering his nationality. Thompson sang an

POLICE WILL NOT INTERFERE WITH EXHIBITION

Contestants Must Comply With the Law as it is Interpreted.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Tonight's Sparring Match Must be for Points and Not for Blood.

High Sheriff Brown Secures an Opinion Upon Which His Men Can Form Their Judgment—Officers Will be Present to See that Provisions of Law Are Not Violated.

The attempt to bring Territorial interference against the boxing exhibition, to be given by "Denver" Ed Smith, at the hall over the Club Stables this evening, and prevent the contest from being pulled off, met with failure yesterday.

The police department was apprised of the movement coming from certain quarters to have the affair called off. High Sheriff Brown immediately sent a request to Attorney General Dole, asking him to render an opinion upon the matter, in order that the officers might be guided in their actions thereby.

Attorney General's Opinion.

The Attorney General's opinion was received at the High Sheriff's office yesterday afternoon. In reference to the fight it states:

Territory of Hawaii.

Office of the Attorney General, Honolulu, H. T., Jan. 24, 1902.

Mr. A. M. Brown, High Sheriff of the Territory of Hawaii, Honolulu:

Dear Sir: My attention has been called to the boxing contests advertised for tomorrow evening, with the request that such action be taken as the law authorizes. Chapter 33 of the Penal Laws of 1897 is as follows:

"AFFRAY—An affray is the fighting of two or more persons in a public place; and includes any prize fight or other premeditated contention where no weapons are used. Whoever takes part in it, encourages, or promotes an affray, or is willfully present as a spectator at any prize fight or other premeditated contention, shall be punished by fine not exceeding five hundred dollars or by imprisonment at hard labor not more than six months."

Definition of an Affray.

The definition of an affray given in the statute is the same as the common law definition. Wilkes v. Jackson, 2 H. & M. 355; O'Neill v. State, 16 Ala. 65. The title of the chapter "Affray" restricts it, I think, to fighting. The words "or other premeditated contention" are clearly used for the purpose of preventing an evasion of the spirit of the law by any technical or narrow construction of the words "prize fight."

Fight is Prohibited.

The statute, in my opinion, does not prohibit an exhibition of strength or skill in boxing, although such exhibition may be of a somewhat rough nature. It does prohibit a contest, the nature and intent of which are to win victory by disabling or injuring an opponent; in other words, a contest which is a fight.

I think the department should not interfere with this exhibition, unless it is in the nature of a fight in which it is sought to disable or injure an opponent; but I think a sufficient police force in the charge of a discreet and fearless officer should be ready to stop it peremptorily in case it passes the limits permitted by law.

Very truly yours,

E. P. DOLE, Attorney General.

Police Will be Present.

"Denver" Ed Smith, as well as the other participants in the proposed contest, will not be interfered with by the police department tonight as long as they confine their boxing within reasonable bounds, and if, in the opinion of the officers, there is no attempt to harm or injure an opponent," stated High Sheriff Brown yesterday upon receipt of the opinion of the Attorney General.

"The police department will have a capable and efficient force of officers present at the contest," declared that official. "According to their discretion, when the time arrives that they believe the boxing has reached the danger line, the police will take prompt action and stop further proceedings among the athletes."

"Prize fighting will not be permitted under any guise or subterfuge. While contestants remain within the provisions of the law, they will be permitted to proceed unmolested. We do not anticipate any trouble at the contest."

CALICO BALL TO BE GIVEN FOR CHARITY

Ladies Plan to Raise Funds for Eye and Ear Infirmary.

DRILL SHED SCENE OF FESTIVITIES

Committees Appointed Yesterday and Active Steps Were Taken.

Fitting Benefit For a Very Worthy Institution—Honolulu People Will Again Be Asked to Contribute Their Mites—Dress Suits Not Declared Essential For Gentlemen.

Honolulu people will again be given the opportunity of dancing for "sweet charity's sake."

Such was the determination reached by a committee of ladies who gathered at the home of Mrs. H. Isenberg at Punahou yesterday afternoon, and laid plans for a charity ball to be given for the purpose of raising funds for the Honolulu Eye and Ear Infirmary.

Ball at the Drill Shed.

The flattering success of the Carnival and ball held last year under similar auspices is well known. The proceeds were largely in excess of what was expected. Nevertheless the infirmary has been under a great deal of expense, and it is by a most agreeable method that the residents of Honolulu will be asked to contribute their mites to a worthy object.

The charity ball will be held at the drill shed on Wednesday, February 5th.

Masks and Calico.

The affair has been planned on the lines of a "Calico Ball" at which ladies attending are to be arrayed in fantastic costumes of calico, the gentlemen may come wearing their coolest white attire, and it will not be considered bad form should a visitor attend the party minus a dress suit. All persons are to be masked.

Decorations upon an extensive and elaborate scale have been arranged for. At the meeting held yesterday many committees were appointed whose duty it will be to look after every detail connected with the affair.

Among the ladies present at the meeting were: Mrs. F. A. Schaefer, Mrs. McGrew, Mrs. L. Lewis, Mrs. Geo. Herbert, Mrs. J. S. Walker, Mrs. E. D. Tenney, Mrs. Hamburg, Mrs. C. Grimwood, Mrs. Shackable, Mrs. A. G. Hawes, Mrs. Mayes, Mrs. Cofer, Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. Brock, Mrs. Cooper, Mrs. Arthur Wall, Miss Bacon, Mrs. Soper, Mrs. Forster and Miss McIntyre.

The selection of an executive committee was first in the order of business. Those chosen included:

Mrs. Alexander Isenberg, chairman; Mrs. C. B. Cooper, Mrs. Chas. Wilder, Mrs. John Soper, Mrs. C. Brock, Mrs. F. A. Schaefer, Mrs. McIntyre, Mrs. E. D. Tenney, Mrs. A. G. Hawes, Mrs. Mary Wildfield, Mrs. Andrew Fuller, Mrs. J. S. Walker, Mrs. C. E. Cofer, Mrs. Dr. F. Mayes, Mrs. J. Hamburg, Mrs. Arthur Wall, Mrs. H. Lewis, Mrs. Geo. Herbert, Mrs. Dr. McGrew, Mrs. C. Grimwood, Miss Bacon, Miss Belle Walker, Miss McIntyre, and Mrs. Carl Du Roi. The chairman was granted power to appoint others to serve on this committee should the necessity arise.

Committee on Advertising and Newspapers—Mrs. Fuller and Mrs. J. Soper.

Committee on Refreshments—Mrs. H. Lewis, Mrs. C. Brock, Mrs. C. M. V. Forster.

Committee on Tickets—Mrs. M. Phillips, chairman, assisted by all ladies interested in Charity or the Infirmary.

Committee on Decoration—Mrs. Arthur Wall, chairman; Mrs. Geo. Paris, Mrs. L. E. Cofer, Mrs. Mayes, Mrs. George Smithies, Miss Belle Walker and others.
